STATE DEATH BENEFIT

Under Washington law, all full-time law enforcement officers and commissioned state troopers participate in the Law Enforcement Officers' and Fire Fighters' (LEOFF) or Washington State Patrol Retirement System (WSPRS) retirement systems. The 1996 Legislature passed a bill which established a survivor benefit in the amount of $150,000. The benefit will be paid to beneficiaries of members and duty-disability retirees of LEOFF and WSPRS "where death occurs as a result of injuries sustained in the course of employment." This is a separate benefit that has no effect on any other benefits payable from LEOFF and WSPRS.

The Department of Retirement Systems (DRS) has created a beneficiary form that pertains only to the $150,000 benefit. When a covered employee or retiree dies, the beneficiary is to notify DRS. DRS will provide the beneficiary with an Application for Death Benefit. Upon receipt of the application and death certificate, DRS submits the documents and necessary information to the Department of Labor and Industries for determination whether the covered employee's or retiree's death is a result of injuries sustained in the course of LEOFF or WSPRS-covered employment.

STATE PENSION BENEFITS

Under Washington law, all full-time law enforcement officers and commissioned state troopers participate in the Law Enforcement Officers' and Fire Fighters' (LEOFF) or Washington State Patrol Retirement System (WSPRS) retirement systems. Both retirement systems provide survivor benefits to spouses and children of retirement system members who die while in service. (These benefits are not limited only to survivors of officers killed in the line of duty, but are available to survivors of any officer who dies while employed as a law enforcement officer - regardless of the cause of death.) Under both retirement systems, survivor death benefits are calculated based on the deceased officer's salary for the two years preceding his/her death.

Retirement allowances.

- (1) The normal form of retirement allowance shall be an allowance which shall continue as long as the member lives.
- (2) If a member should die while in service, the member's lawful spouse shall be paid an allowance which shall be equal to fifty percent (50%) of the average final salary of the member. The allowance paid to the lawful spouse shall continue as long as the spouse lives or until the spouse remarries. To be eligible for an allowance the lawful surviving spouse shall have been married to the member at least two years prior to the member's death.
- (3) If a member should die while in service, the member's surviving children under the age of eighteen shall be provided for in the following manner:
Each unmarried child under the age of eighteen years of age shall be entitled to a benefit equal to five percent (5%) of the final average salary of the member. The combined benefits to the surviving spouse and all children shall not exceed sixty percent (60%) of the final average salary of the member.
- (4) If a member should die in the line of duty while employed by the Washington State Patrol, the member's surviving children under the age of twenty years and eleven months if attending any high school, college, university, or vocational or other educational institution accredited or approved by the state of Washington shall hereafter be entitled to a benefit equal to five percent (5%) of the final average salary of the member. The combined benefits to the surviving spouse and all children shall not exceed sixty percent (60%) of the final average salary of the member: Provided, that if a beneficiary under this section shall reach the age of twenty-one years during the middle of a term of enrollment the benefit shall continue until the end of said term.

of duty while employed by any public law enforcement agency or full time volunteer fire department in this state. Contact your local police department or state university for specific details on entrance requirements.

HEALTH BENEFITS

Health care access for survivors of emergency service personnel killed in the line of duty.

House Bill 1371 (2001) – Codified as Revised Code of Washington (RCW) 41.05.080

This bill required the Public Employees Benefits Board (PEBB) to provide access to health insurance to surviving spouses and dependent children of emergency service personnel killed in the line of duty on or after January 1, 1998, including those who die as a result of injuries sustained in the course of employment as determined by the Department of Labor and Industries under Title 51 RCW. "Emergency service personnel" means members of the Law Enforcement Officers' and Fire Fighters' Retirement system and members of the Volunteer Fire Fighters' and Reserve Officers' Relief and Pensions system. All benefit costs are paid by the surviving spouses and dependent children. Contact the benefits assistance officer at your agency.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION

Workers' Compensation coverage is compulsory for employers in Washington.

Benefit is 60% of employee's wage for a surviving spouse and 70% for a surviving spouse with child(ren) with a minimum weekly benefit of $44.05 to $83.81 according to the number of dependents and a maximum weekly benefit of $517.16. Lump sum of $1,600 becomes payable at time of death. Maximum burial allowance is $2,000.

Upon remarriage, surviving spouse is entitled to $7,500 or 50% of remaining annuity value, if less, and weekly benefits cease. Children receive benefits until age 18 or beyond age 18 if disabled, or until age 23 if full-time students.

To receive workers' compensation benefits the surviving spouse must take the initiative and file a workers' compensation claim through a workers' compensation attorney to receive any compensation. The determination as to whether the claim will be paid will be determined by the Workers' Compensation Appeals Board.
